NAPOLEON, IN 1812.

Of the many descriptions of Napoleon I. which we have read, there are few that equal in vividness and power the following, given by Mr. H. Brevocrt, who saw the Emperor on the eve of his leaving Paris for that fatal campaign which was the grand crime and misfortune of his career. It is contributed to the Knickerbocker:

On the morning of the 9th of May the tricolor banner of France no longer floated above the Palace of the Tuileries. Napoleon had departed with the Empress for Dresden, to play the part of "king of kings." The evening preceeding, I saw him at the Grand Opera, which was then in the Rue Richelieu. The Emperor and Empress occupied the front of the box; behind them stood, rows of officers of the imperial household, in brilliant costumes, and the two adjoining boxes were filled with dames d'honneur and distinguished courtiers.

The Emperor entered the theater in the midst of the performance. The whole audience rose to salute him, which he acknowledged by a slight inclination of his head before he took his seat. He remained until the ballet was nearly ended, and then took leave with the same careless ceremony with which he entered. He appeared to take no interest in what was passing upon the stage, except for a few minutes, when Gardelle and Bigottini danced a pas de deux. His glass was constantly in use, directed to all parts of the theatre, as if he were intent upon examining the face of every individual present. Occasionally he raised his hand, without turning his head, to receive his snuff box from the chamberlain, who stood up behind him in watchful attendance. Not a word was uttered by him to the Empress nor to any other person in the box. It was evident from the restlessness of his manner that his mind was pre-occupied with far away scenes; and if the dark circle of futurity could have been lifted for a moment, what scenes and events would he not have beheld.

Being very near, I kept my eyes riveted upon him. He was in a plain uniform of blue, with red cuffs and facings, and wore the grand cross and ribbon of the Legion of Honor. His person was rather corpulent, but seemed muscular and active. His blue-gray eye was deep-set in his head, and occasionally threw out vivid flashes of expression. His forehead was broad and smooth, and his temples thinly covered with dark brown hair. His nose was finely formed, and his mouth and chin were the model of classic beauty. His visage was square, and his neck very short. His complexion was healthy, but colorless; his beard of a bluish tinge. His face and expression were calm and grave, more benignant than commanding, and bore the aspect of a sculptured Grecian marble.

Now and then his features relaxed from their habitual expression of melancholy into a smile of exquisite sweetness and good nature. His small triangular cocked hat lay beside him, and his hand, which was small, white and plump, frequently rested upon the cushion before him.

Although I had often seen him before, my mind always recurs to his appearance on that memorable evening. I saw before me the mysterious being whose genius had exalted him to the summit of human power, and whose hand swayed the destinies of the civilized world. I beheld him at the very apex of his glory, at the moment of his departure upon his immortal campaign, which shattered his power and hastened his downfall. I find it difficult to analyze the sensations which passed through my mind while standing in the presence of a man whose fame filled the universe, and in whom alone seemed embodied the power of moving the world.—Columbia Times.

GEN. SCOTT.—Dr. Scanning once said of Gen. Scott: "To this distinguished man belongs the rare honor of uniting with military energy and daring the spirit of a philanthropist. His exploits in the field, which placed him in the front rank of our soldiers, have been obscured by the purer and more lasting glory of a pacificator, and of a friend of mankind. In the whole lot recourse of civilized with barbarous or half-civilized communities, we doubt whether a brighter page can be found than that which records his agency in removing the Cherokees. As far as the wrongs done to this race can be atoned, Gen. Scott has made the expiation. In his recent mission to the disturbed borders of our country, he has succeeded, not so much by policy, as by the nobleness and generosity of his character, by moral influences, by the earnest conviction with which he has enforced on all with whom he had to do the obligations of patriotism, justice, humanity, and religion. It would not be easy to find among us a man who has won a purer fame; and I am happy to offer this tribute, because I would do something, no matter how little, to hasten the time when the spirit of Christian humanity shall be accounted an essential tribute, and the brightest ornament in a public man."

AGE OF MILITARY MEN.—Here is a statement showing the respective ages of several of the principal officers of the United States service:
Scott, 75; Wool, 73; Harney, 65; Mansfield, 60; Totten, [Head of the Engineer Corps] 80; Thayer, [Engineers] 80; Craig, [Head of the Ordnance Department] 76; Ripley, [Ordnance] 70; Sumner, 65; Lawson, [Surgeon-General] 80; Larned, [Paymaster-General] 70; Gibson, [Commissary-General] Churchill, [Inspector-General] and Thomas, [Adjutant-General] are all old men, having entered the army at the beginning of the present century. Gibson in 1808, and Churchill in 1812. In the Confederate army the ages of the commanding officers will not average more than 50. That of Jeff. Davis is 53; Lee, 55; Beauregard, 43; Johnson, 50; Pillow, about 40; Biagg, 45; Twiggs, 60.—Nap Reporter.

The Rescue.

[After the "Sippurim."]

Bella was astonished; she did not know what to think of the matter. But, it was too late now to remonstrate and, knowing her husband to be an intelligent and learned man, she thought he knew better what the duties in such cases were. Hence quietly submitting by faith, she merely said, and dare I ask the name of the man and his station?

R. Mordecai felt embarrassed; he could give no answer.

"And you gave five thousand florins to a stranger, to a man whose name you even do not know?" asked Bella rather hastily.

"I gave them to an unfortunate man," was the reply, "and there is no mistake about that. Dear Bella, rest assured all is right. I felt, and followed this voice of conscience, I cast my bread upon the waters. And, surely, I shall not rue it."

"Be it so, you followed your conscience, and all will be right."

"Be-zrath ha-shem, by the help of God," replied R. Mordecai, kissing the tear rolling down the cheek of the pious and resigned Bella.

It was the first night Pesach, in the year 1559. The synagogue of Prague has just been closed, and multitudes could be seen in the streets, hastily making for their homes. And a pleasant sight it was. The baala habathim (family fathers) were dressed alike. They wore silk cloaks, short, cloth pants; shoes with silver buckles; their head covering was a broad barrett cap, the whole suit was black. The rabbi, the dayanim (the assessors of the rabbi) and some prominent lomdim (talmudists) were distinguished by their Polish dress. On parties meeting, they would salute one another by "good yom tov (happy festival)." Some would shake hands; but none stopped to talk in the streets; for they all had to hasten to give the Seder (a certain religious service performed during the two nights of the festival). Gradually the streets were less crowded; all was dark. But from the houses of Israel spread light into the darkness; and louder grew the voice of those who rendered thanks to God for the deliverance of Israel from Egypt, and who hopefully looked for the future return of happier days in the land of their forefathers. Among those houses there was one to which I principally direct the attention of my readers. It is the house of R. Mordecai, Cohen Zemach.

The large dwelling room was beautiful illuminated; in the midst of the ceiling hung the well known eight cornered Shabbath lamp; on the table and against the walls you could see beautiful silver candle-sticks and sconces; on which burned wax tapers, made lecobod yom tob (in honor of the holy day) by the own hand of Bella; no one was to have the mitzvah (the benefit of the duty performed) but the pious housewife; she also had lighted them for yom tob with her own hands, and, raising her hands, had pronounced the Berachoh (blessing) over them. The company sat at a square table. At the head you see R. Mordecai on a sofa, which, with the help of some pillows, was converted into a sort of throne. Bella, the blessing of the house, sat with her three daughters to the right; to the left sits the house bachur [talmudical student residing in the family] with his two talmidim [pupils], the sons of our host, no less than four orchim [guests] sit on the two sides; but the seats of the servants were unoccupied that night; except while the haggadah [service] was read; for it was a very busy night, this, two maids and the meshorress [waiter] had to wait on the family. Every person had a cup of wine, for the religious ceremony, before him. In the midst of the table which was covered with a white table cloth, stood a large silver charger, containing the shemooro-ma zoth [passover crackers prepared with extraordinary care], wrapped up in a napkin. This was surmounted with a plate containing other articles that symbolized (were a sign, a remembrance) of the event celebrated that night. R. Mordecai, on his arrival home, had taken off his school-tracht [the suit worn on attending synagogue], and put on, according to usage, the Kuttel and cap [shrouds, worn on pass-over night and on the day of atonement]. The seder was commenced the younger son asked the ma nish hanai (these are the first words of the service), enquiring after the signification of the festival, the father responded, explained the importance of the day. The service performed, the table was served, the whole company enjoyed the happy night.

"I hear a rap at the house door," said little David.

Somebody is knocking at the door—

All kept silence. "Yes, I also hear the rapping," added Gitel, a girl four years old.

R. Mordecai went to the window in haste, and, on enquiring who was there, he was requested to open the door and admit a stranger who wanted to see him on particular business.

The door being opened by the Meshorress, a gentleman, wrapped in a cloth, with his hat over his eyes, entered.

"I thank God to have found you; may I crave the pleasure of a private conversation with you, on business of importance?" asked he.

R. Mordecai, on retiring with the stranger, was not a little surprised to see in the stranger the very man whom he once rescued from the watery grave.

"It is gratitude, deep felt gratitude, that brings me again under your roof. Perhaps I may now be able to make returns for favors received," said the stranger. "I come direct from Vienna in your interest and in that of your people, whom your act of extreme generosity has taught me to respect."

"The urgency of the business and the brief space of time allowed me, prevents me from apologising for my not presenting myself in person before this. The remittance of the sum you advanced me with interest, was but a poor requital of what I have received at your hand. To come to business at once, I will briefly state, that: restored to life, position, and honor through you, and fortune favoring me, I advanced till by the recommendation I now occupy, a post, which, though not so brilliant, is on that account, not the less influential; as the private secretary of our Majesty, the emperor, a sense of duty and gratitude brings me hither to inform you that trouble hangs again over the head of your people, that, unless God turns the mind of the emperor, the Jews are again to be removed from of Prague within four months. Such is the intention of his Majesty, the emperor."

"And what is our sin, what wrong have we committed again to deserve such a fate?" interrupted R. Mordecai impatiently.

"No fault whatever, this time any more than the last time; not even the imputation of any wrong ties to your charge, it is a mere whim—a dream, and as it is God who directs the hearts of Kings, I hope that, with His help, we shall be able to avert the blow."

"I have but a brief furlough allowed me," continued the Secretary, "and so I will sum the story in a few words:

PRUSSIAN CITIZENSHIP.—At the sitting of the Berlin Chamber of Deputies of May 27th, the Minister of Justice, replying to a question addressed to him in reference to the right of citizenship of those who had received the King's amnesty, said that the right of Prussian citizenship was forfeited by a stay of ten years abroad.—Exch.

AMSTERDAM—DEATH OF MR. LEHREN.—At the moment of our going to press, we learn that Heer Meijer Lehren, of Amsterdam, departed this life on the 19, of Sivan last, at the age of 68.—Jewish Chronicle.

LEGAL APPOINTMENT.—We are happy to be able to announce that our co-religionist, Mr. Simeon Jacobs, of the Inner Temple, son of Mr. Lewis Jacobs, has been appointed Attorney-General for British Kaffraria, Cape of Good Hope.—Jewish Chronicle.

JEW'S FREE SCHOOL BELL-LANE, LONDON.—In pursuance made with the managers of this institution, the two great school-rooms were on Friday, 31st ult., placed at the disposal of M. Arnold, esq., for the purpose of his holding his annual examination of assistants and pupil teachers in the home district.

Owing to the size of the school-rooms, Mr. Arnold, her Majesty's Inspector of Schools, is enabled to receive a larger number of teachers of the Free School than at any other school in the country. About 150 were present on this occasion. As the examination is wholly a written one, the most profound order is preserved; the masters and mistresses of schools represented are permitted to be present, but are strictly prohibited from interference. The highest admiration was expressed at the completeness and beauty of every part of the establishment. On Monday and Tuesday last Mr. Arnold paid his annual visit of inspection to the Free School itself. As usual, he was received by various members of the committee, both ladies and gentlemen. Every class in both schools—boys' and girls'—was minutely examined, and the teaching capabilities of the several teachers were put to the test. In the lower classes, reading, spelling, tables and slate writing, were the principle subjects of examination; in the higher classes book-writing, dictation, grammar, geography, history, moral science, Euclid and the higher branches of arithmetic were added. On no previous occasion has the Free School obtained so much success. There was not a failure anywhere. Mr. Arnold pronounced the institution to be a most remarkable one in every way, and he stated that notwithstanding the time devoted to the study of Hebrew the school had nothing to lose from comparison with the best in the country as regarded discipline, organization, and generality of instruction. Above 1450 children were under examination.

RZESZOW, GALICIA—THE CONCORDAT.

What power the concordat gives to the clergy, and how hateful it therefore must be to every one not a fanatic, will appear from the following, copied from the "A. Z. d. I.": Yesterday, February 13th, all servant girls of the Christian religion in the service of Israelites were taken by the police before the magistrates, and having been there duly exhorted, were then conducted to the priest. The Rev. gentleman interdicted them in emphatic language from remaining in the service of Jews, and fixed the first day of the next month when they must quit their Jewish employers, under the penalty of bodily chastisement. This occurrence, moreover, is not an isolated fact.

SICILY—ADMISSION OF JEWS.—We copy the following from the "A. Z. d. I.": A royal decree of February 13th, grants to the non-Catholics in Sicily all civil and religious rights the same as enjoyed by Catholics. It is known that Garibaldi has given sites to the Protestants for the erection of churches. We trust that the time is not far when also the Israelites will again possess a synagogue at Naples, to which so many historical reminiscences are attached. The right to erect one they already possess at this moment. In Sicily there were rich and respectable Jewish congregations until the last days of the year 1492; for the Spanish decree of banishment also extended to Sicily. From Naples they were expelled by Charles V. in 1539. However, they visited Naples and Sicily as foreign merchants until Philip the II. in edicted this in 1591. In later days three attempts were made to recall the Jews to Naples and Sicily; viz. by Charles II. in 1695, then in October 1728, and again, by a proclamation of February 3, 1740. However, the king ultimately yielded to the Jesuits, and cancelled the proclamation. [See history of the Jews in Sicily, by Zenz, in "Zur Geschichte und Literatur," p. 484.] In virtue of the aforementioned decree, the Jews are fully emancipated all throughout Italy, with the sole exception of Rome, and the small district belonging to it, still subject to the pope. In the first Italian Parliament now sitting at Turin, there are three Jewish deputies. Many Jews, moreover, now hold in Italy both civil and military posts and municipal offices.

SWITZERLAND.—LIBERALISM.—We are gratified to learn that in Switzerland, too, the desirability of a more enlightened policy towards the Jews begins to be perceived. The Courier of the Lower Rhine announces that in the canton des Grisons all exceptional laws against the Jews have been abolished; that in the Canton of Zurich the grand council is engaged in elaborating a reformed project of law concerning the Hebrews; and that in Bale-city the executive has received full power to grant to Jews permission to form establishments there—a right which was previously withheld from them.

THE JEWISH CHRONICLE.—We are under obligation to the London Jewish Chronicle for considerable material which we copy from its columns. We find in the Chronicle much more interesting questions treated than we have found for years in the Zeitung des Judenthums.

UNIVERSAL ISRAELITISH ALLIANCE.—The first annual meeting of the Alliance was to have been held on the 30th of May, at Paris, when the President, M. Carvalho, was to give an account of the proceedings of the year, and subjects for prizes to be competed for was to be proposed.

PRAGUE.—The Ghetto is no more.—After having existed for centuries, the walls finally fell. The annexation of the Jewish quarter to the city was accomplished by paying into the city treasury the funds on hand, amounting to 146,818 guilders. All distinctions in public and scholastic affairs have ceased, and the city is united.—J. Chron.

[We do not trust popular ebullition.—Ed.]

FANNY LEWALD.—Fanny Lewald is the name of a Jewish lady who has attained the same fame among German writers, as the late Grace Aguilar among English authors, and whose political writings were very popular in Germany. This lady recently wrote her autobiography, and called it "Meine Lebensgeschichte," in which she says: "I was born at Königsberg, in Prussia, March 24, 1811, of Jewish parents."—Israelite.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY. The item under this heading in our columns, is admonitory. The false prophets in Israel always betrayed their people by telling them in their flatteries "Peace, peace;" while the true prophets always found reason to complain. A Bible Society, with ten thousand kindred institutions, having translated the Bible into 160 languages, or dialects, and distributed 69,000,000 of copies of the SS., with an expenditure of £165,462 12s. 2d., in one year, calls for emulation.

THE NEXT EXHIBITION.—Though not new, the following is well worthy of being registered into the columns of the GLEANER:

"The charter for the exhibition of the Industry of all Nations, has been granted by the English Government, and the contract for the building has already been made. It is to cost £300,000, and is to cover a little over 26 acres. It will be 1,200 feet long, by 700 broad, exclusive of the space set apart for the display of agricultural implements, which is, in rough numbers, 1,200 long by 220 broad. The walls are to be mostly of brick, with a clear story at the top 25 feet in height of iron and glass. The roof is to be of painted wood. The building is to be ornamented with two domes of iron and glass, larger than any others that have ever been built. They will each be 160 feet in diameter, and will rise to the immense height of 220 feet. The exhibition will open on Thursday, the 1st of May, 1862."

THE COST.—According to a recent table, there are 134 men employed at San Francisco, at an annual cost of $402,402,000, to collect the sum of $1,580,000; at Benicé, three men at $4,400, to collect $2,300; at Stockton one man at $3,100, to collect $143; at Sacramento, one man at $3,600 to collect $402; at San Diego, four men at $7,600 to collect $30; at Monterey, three men at $7,050 to collect $45; at San Pedro, 6 men at $4,200 to collect $304.—Napa Reporter.

ELEGANCE, TASTE AND ECONOMY. Purchasers will do well to try Wm. Meyer & Co. Wholesale House of boys' and gentlemen's custom made clothing, 107 Sacramento street, near the Pacific Mail Steam Ship Co. No doubt quantity, quality, and price will prove highly eligible. FOR LADIES.—Mr. Warkheim & Co., Clock and Mantilla Store, 619 Sacramento street, and recommend itself in every respect, and Mr. Marks millinery establishment, only two doors from it (617 Sacramento street), are worthy of an extended patronage, for elegance, choice and prices.

DR. ADOLPHUS'
ANT-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL.
 AND HEALTH RESTORATIVE
IS THE MOST valuable and unsurpassed remedy for Rheumatism and Gout to be found in the world or known at present. The discoverer of the above medicine does claim its infallibility in all cases of Rheumatism and Gout—when used according to direction—and does offer a reward of five thousand dollars to any medicine that does supersede it, and is entirely vegetable. The Doctor is enabled to offer the above reward on account of his having used the above medicine for ten years in his practice, and has never known it to fail in the cure of the most protracted cases of Rheumatism and Gout, and withstood all known remedies to the profession. Doctor Adolphus is known and rightly celebrated throughout the State, for his cures in Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Diseases, and has only the continued urgent efforts of his patients, and through the desire to help them who are not emboldened to see him personally, or to spend a fortune to get rid of the disease which they have contracted to the pursuit of their daily calling; only this has been able to persuade the Doctor to give the above medicine to the public, and at such terms that every suffering one should be able to reap its benefits.
 As a Health Restorative its value supercedes all the mineral wealth and riches of California. And is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.
 In secondary and tertiary Syphilis Scrofula, enlargement of the Glands, Dropsy, and all Nervous and Cutaneous Diseases, and the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and baffle the skill of the most excellent and learned Physician in the world; in Chronic Diseases whose very name is a terror as well to the Physician as to the patient, this medicine has proved to be superior to any in existence, and has cured in a short time that they appeared like being abolished by magic influence, and in fact a few more such discoveries, and druggists will not need to keep a lot of useless medicines on hand, whenever they are prescribed once in a ten score they have lost through time their properties in which their value did reside if there was actually any in them.
 Take this medicine when your digestive organs are disordered and your blood is impure, it will surely act on your bowels.
 Take this medicine when you have a cold, and it will make you perspire freely.
 Take this medicine when your urinary and absorbing organs are disordered and it will act on your kidneys—it penetrates every part of your body, searches even the most remote and secret recesses of your system; and removes the disease located there—it restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body: there ore it has rightfully deserved the name it bears: Health Restorative.
 The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above medicine is no such thing, but that he has, through the introduction of this medicine with its treatise and directions for use, made every sufferer to be his own physician in the above named diseases.
 Thinking it under my dignity to follow the mode of quacks by appending certificates of physicians or private persons which is too well known, can be had for certain remunerations, applications of friends, or by the mode of boring a man half to death for even the most worthless trash, I will therefore leave it to those in want of medicine to inquire personally of men that have been cured by my medicines of the above diseases, and who can be found in almost every city and village throughout the State. I consider such personal conviction far superior to certificates of persons that are far from being known to them in want of medical aid.
 But should only one care for written testimonials or certificates regarding the cures performed by this medicine, they might call at my office, and I will show them certificates of true merit, which have been sent to me voluntarily, without applying for them, or by boring individuals to get them.
 To satisfy the most scrupulous of men, also as a guarantee to those that have not had the opportunity of knowing the Do tor by reputation or personally, I have adjoined to every bottle of the Anti-Rheumatic Cordial this certificate eroth of one of the most celebrated analytical chemists in the United States, that there are no poisons contained in this medicine, although it is a powerful medicine, and has a very strong action on the human system which it necessarily must have to overcome the action of disease of such malignant character.

EDITORIAL REMARKER.

THE TWENTY-SIXTH OF JULY.

On the twenty-sixth of this month it will be seven years that the first session of Hebrew children for religious "instruction" took place on this coast. It was in a room on the corner of Green and Stockton streets, at that time occupied as the Synagogue Emanuel. The average attendance during the first year was by some forty children. In taking a retrospect, it concerns us deeply to see that the first generation of Hebrew children, in this city, has not carried any deep religious impressions into their more advanced life. The want of interest on the part of a number of parents, the continual changes, the mistake of confusing religious instruction for religious education and impressions. You may hire men to put beautiful labels on the outside of bottles, but unless you are able to fill these bottles with wine the glass of the bottles, the beauty and the number of labels, and the label pasters hired, are all of no use.

One, even ignorant, truly pious woman is able to train a whole family "in the way they should go" better than a number of unregenerated, interested, hired label pasters; it is the spirit and not the knowledge only, that thus has to be poured over, [שפך - שפך] and impressed into the child. But our people mistake, instruction for education. The religious instruction of our children, in general wants unction; we want truly religious teachers to teach religion; and even then their efforts will prove abortive without a truly religious home influence.

We also want proper books; the books hitherto prepared for Hebrew children are written by men who do not understand how children have to be addressed. As to the present statistics of our school, the children connected with it cannot be less than one hundred and twenty or thirty. There are three adult teachers besides others occupied on Saturdays and Sundays. The number of from twenty to thirty-five attend every afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. We cannot extend to the school those advantages which we could, had parents, and our people, done their duty to a school that we are sure deserves it. But as matters stand we can do no more than neglect our temporal interest and deny ourselves that ease and those comforts which we actually require to carry on the ungrateful task.

The average income of the school ranges to about $80 or $90 a month. This does scarce cover the actual outlay. We tried to interest committees to co-operate with us; but somehow, we had to manage, after all, the best way we could.

San Francisco ought, long ago, to have had one or two proper Talmud Torah Schools. Instead of two dead houses, or two burial grounds, one would have done and the funds expended upon the other ought to have been furnished to our living children. Perhaps we have said too much already. If London is not farther advanced than to batten on idlers, why should we be better?

ENGLISH JEWISH ARTISTS.

That the British Jews should be able to accumulate wealth, we do not wonder. That they have public character and charities, is no more than we could expect. England is conservative, but that they should have so many artists among them, as we see from one single item in the Chronicle, is highly creditable. We see that there are already a number of parents and men among them who are above devoting their whole thoughts and energy to "making money," as may be seen from the following item, copied from the Jewish Chronicle.

THE EXHIBITION OF THE ROYAL ACADEMY.—It is not our intention to offer any remarks on the productions exhibiting this year by Jewish artists at the Royal Academy. Other papers, within whose province notices of this kind come, have passed their opinions. We will content ourselves with mentioning these co-religionists whose names have come to our knowledge. These are: Professor Hart, who painted "St. Elizabeth, Queen of Hungary, distributing alms to the poor" —east room, No. 49—; "Dilettanti"—middle room, No. 318— Mr. A. Solomon, who exhibits "Consolation"—east room, No. 180—; "Le Malade Imaginaire"—west room, No. 464— Mr. S. Solomon, exhibiting "A young Musician employed in the temple service during the Feast of Tabernacles"—west room, No. 493. Mrs R. Solomon, who painted "The Arrest of a Deserter"—south room, No. 381. Mr. P. Levin, exhibits "Rouge et Noir—interior of a German Kursaal"—south room, No. 600. The name of Mr. D. Brandon is attached to "Grafton Manor House, Worcester-shire," from the designs of the architect—north room, No. 710—"South-west View of a Mansion erecting at Blackmore Park, the same county,"—the same room, No. 711—; "Design for a new church to be erected at Penbayr, Carmarthenshire, for the Earl of Cowdor"—the same room, No. 713. In the Octagon room—No. 938—is an engraving of H. R. H. Ernest Prince of Leiningen, after John Faël, by Mr. H. Lemon. There may be other co-religionists who are exhibitors and we shall be happy to supply the omissions, should they be brought under our notice.

POLISH LIBERALISM.—We respect very much the boasted liberalism of Poland. The Polish noble man is too proud; the peasant too ignorant for the work. True, Poland [the nobility] fraternizes with France, as history proves through several centuries: but neither the Polish people nor the nobility can be compared with the French; and to dispense justice from a sheer sense of justice, is not to be expected from Poland: the Polish mind is too turbulent, effervescent to be sufficiently humanized. Probably it is party spirit; they want men and money for some object.

RELICS OF MEXICAN BARBARITY.—Several skeletons of human beings who were buried alive, between walls, in the convent of St. Domingo, in the city of Mexico, have been recently discovered. They are fettered hand and foot, and bear evidence of writhing with agony when they drew their last breath.—Ev. Gaz.

Wrinkled silk may be rendered nearly as beautiful as when new, by sponging it on the surface with a weak solution of gum arabic or white glue, then ironing it on the wrong side.—Ev. Gaz.

SAFETY ON RAILROADS.—As an instance of how safe human life may be made in railroad cars, we would call attention to the following extract from the annual report of the New Jersey Railroad Company (Camden and Amboy) presented a few days ago: "Upwards of 3,000,000 of passengers have been transported safely since the last enumeration, making more than 36,000,000 who have been carried without loss of life or limb in the cars since our organization."

The Atlantic Telegraph Company still continues in existence in England, hoping some day to realize the object of its formation, the union, telegraphically, of the Old and New world. The failure with their cable they attribute to the haste with which it was constructed. They think that a cable could be constructed without difficulty, and worked between Ireland and Newfoundland at the rate of 15 to 20 words per minute.

MOSQUITOES.—Since the last earthquake and the advent of the comet, mosquitoes have been quite plentiful, more so than during any previous period of the season. Are they bred from monstrosities and freaks in nature?—Ev. Gaz.

BURNED TO DEATH.—On Tuesday morning last, Miss Wilson, residing near Mark West Creek, in this county, says the Sonoma county Democrat, was burned to death. While engaged in cooking at the stove, her clothes took fire, and there being no persons present excepting an aged mother and little girl, her clothing was completely burned up. The person was burned so badly that her spirit fled after two hours of agony.

CHURCHES.—It is stated that the Catholics have erected 150 churches in the United States the past year, capable of seating 100,000 persons. The Methodist Episcopal church has built 450 churches the past year, or at the rate of nearly nine a week, making her whole number 9,754, and which are worth nearly $20,000,000.

DYING AWAY FROM HOME.—Robert Lighton often used to say that if he were to choose a place to die in, it should be an Inn. It looked like a Pilgrim's going Home, to whom this world was all as an Inn, and who was weary of the noise and confusion in it. He added that the officious tenderness and care of friends was an entanglement to a dying man; and that the unconcerned attendance of those that could be procured in such a place would give him disturbance. And he obtained what he desired; for he died at the Bell Inn, Warwick-lane.

Diodorus tells us that the Egyptians used to style the dwellings of the living "Inns," regarding the life as the journey of a Traveller towards his home.

In many parts of Britain is preserved a superstition preserved to us in apocryphic form in the following distich:

Happy is the wedding that the sun shines on:
Blessed is the corpse that the rain rains on.

The Steamship Canadian struck a piece of ice 80 miles south of Belle Isle, on the 5th inst., and sank in 35 minutes. She had 51 cabin, and 67 steerage passengers, and a crew of 90 men. Of these, 5 cabin and 21 steerage passengers are missing, and the ship is wholly lost.

ESHEWEGE, GERMANY.—An ancient congregation.—The village of Eshewege was anciently the seat of a large and highly respectable congregation; but owing to altered circumstances in modern time, this congregation declined and declined, until one solitary septuagenarian co-religionist remained the sole representative of his community. This old man has now been gathered to his fathers and was interred by his brethren in that of a neighboring congregation in the old Jewish burial-ground, probably closed for ever. There is said to be in the burial-ground a tomb-stone 1,200 years old.—J. Chron.

The following receipt may prove useful to merchants and housekeepers in the state:

A PERFECT RAT DRIVER.—Chloride of lime has frequently proved a sure thing to drive rats away from any place infested by them. An ounce of it, scattered in the place where they come to feed, wrapped in a bit of muslin and put over their holes, where it acquires dampness produces a gas that is not offensive to man but is to the rats. If chloride of lime is moistened with muriatic acid and placed in a drain, vault, or cellar, and closed from the air a little while, the rats will depart, because it will be dangerous to remain. This is also a good disinfectant, and will for a time cure the effluvia of a dead rat. One application of dry chloride of lime to rat holes driven them away for a year, when the renewal of it started them again.—Lumbia Gazette.

ERRORS OF CHRISTIAN ORTHODOXY.

As with ourselves, Christian orthodoxy, being the belief of the commonalty, must contain a great amount of gross material matter, to suit and to be acceptable to the people at large. A Christian correspondent to the London Standard writes with a great many errors on Christian Theology, which he does not well understand, says many apt things. In the Standard of the 10th inst. he thus alludes to the orthodoxy doctrines of the Trinity, the wrath of the Father, the Atonement, the origin of Evil:

"The worship of a Trinity or three-fold God, like polytheism itself, leads the worshiper to a divided allegiance, and to forming unjust opinions of the Creator. Orthodoxy teaches that the Almighty is a wrathful being, who would punish to all eternity the erring creatures whom He has placed in a state of temptation; and that His mercy is equally capricious and that He is angry; for He only releases the few who may believe that He accepts the sufferings of the innocent Jesus as an atoning sacrifice for their sins. Let me assure your readers, sir, that this is not Christianity. This sad doctrine has come down to us from the Gnostics of Egypt and the Manicheans of Persia. It arose from the difficulty of understanding why or whence there is sin in the world. The Hebrew prophets alone answer the question properly, when they describe the Almighty as saying, 'I make good and I make evil.' The pagans and modern orthodoxy are not content with this answer. They talk of the flesh and the devil as powerful enough to thwart the Almighty's plans, and then of the Almighty wanting payment for His offended justice. They think the Almighty less wise than themselves. One of our early kings had a lad who was brought up as the school-fellow and play-fellow of his son, the Prince of Wales. He was called the prince's whipping boy. If the prince did anything wrong the whipping boy was punished for it. In this way the prince was satisfied. But we have fortunately got rid of such barbarisms from real life; they only remain in the stereotyped schemes of orthodox theologians, who tell us that Christ was punished for the sins of mankind. Let me again assure your readers that this is not Christianity. This is one of the pagan additions, which came from the Alexandrian Church."

FROM THE DIARY OF HERR ADOLPH NEUBAUER.

"Let it be well understood that sick Christians are not received into the hospital of the mission. During my stay at Jerusalem it happened that a Protestant, an Austrian subject, fell sick. He wished to go to the hospital, but was told that it was established for such as wished to become Christians, but not for those who were already such. However, to return from this digression, a house was bought by M. Albert Cohn, and converted into a hospital, containing eighteen beds. The house is beautifully situated, and a terrace adjoining it offers a fine view of Mount Olivet and the 'western temple wall' (כותל מערבי). In addition to his hospital duties the physician is bound to devote every day two hours to out-door patients, without religious distinction, and to dispense medicine to them free of any charge. The establishment becomes every day more and more flourishing, and as luck would have it, the services of a most able man, both as physician and director, were secured. This gentleman, Dr. Neumann, a Pole by birth, who, having completed his studies at the university of Vienna, practiced at Warsaw, and subsequently went to America. The doctor thus possesses the advantage of being familiar with the principal languages of Europe; and being an excellent Hebraist, and likewise acquainted with Arabic and Spanish, he is particularly qualified for intercourse with individuals of various nations, such as are to be found at Jerusalem. The greatest order, combined with integrity, characterize the arrangements in the hospital, which is not inferior, except perhaps in accommodation, to any hospital in Europe. The doctor's administrative talent is likewise most conspicuous, and whilst the strictest economy is everywhere manifest, he yet every year succeeds in improving the establishment. A small synagogue is attached to the building, in which Divine service is celebrated every Sabbath, and frequently also on other days. And with what punctuality and expedition are the one hundred and fifty or two hundred patients daily consulting him attended to! I was often present on these occasions. There was a true Babel of languages. Here stood a sufferer, who expounded his evil in the Polish-Jewish jargon; yonder was a grave Moslem, who detailed the symptoms in Arabic; anon Spanish was the medium through which the patient would communicate his sufferings; occasionally Hebrew was resorted to for the purpose. How many souls must daily bless the benevolent founder of such an establishment. Nevertheless, the mischief is not quite obviated. The missionary hospital is still resorted to; for, strange to say, the Jew that goes to Jerusalem to die there is more afraid to die than we are. As their patients have at their next visit to bring the prescriptions, it is curious enough to observe that the visitors, many of whom cannot read, produce by mistake those given them at the mission, thus showing that on one and the same day they had been to both dispensaries. Of course, in such cases they are generally turned out, which I suppose every one will approve of. I must mention that the excommunication has been pronounced by the great Beth-din against those that should receive medicine from the missionaries. But 'the mouth that ties can also untie.' The chachamim themselves go to the missionary hospital. How often have I noticed that out-door patients had to be kept in the hospital, because it was known if sent home they would throw away the medicine if too bitter, and would then go to the missionaries. Nor is it any easy matter to be physician at Jerusalem to the Polish Jews, where the knout is not to be feared. At every trifle, which amongst us would scarcely be heeded, they expect the physician to get up at midnight, and to attend them, although nothing is paid for the visit. Such, however, is not the case with the Sephardim Jews. These possess, as observed before, an innate dignity, and in their intercourse do not violate the rules of courtesy. Whether this is only an external varnish or not I will not presume to judge, כי האדם יראה לעניים.

The rooms of the hospital are called by Hebrew names, viz. by those of the various members of the Rothschild family, and one is called חדר אברהם—The beds, too, have similar designations. The name is properly registered, as well as the prescriptions ordered, so that every particular can be easily ascertained.

INCALCULABLE.—If money can at all come into calculation, when the question is war and peace—and civil war and peace, with all their demoralising effects, the following sums, added to the cost of war, of hospitals, of the misery created, and the actual brutalisation of the belligerents, and their influence—calculate all these, and we cannot see who can advise men to fight, when it is not for water, food or a purely moral principle. The depravity of our race is fully proven by the little success the peace society has among us. An exchange has the following:

"If the independence of the Gulf States should ever be acknowledged, they will owe the United States Government a snug sum. They have directly and indirectly cost her as follows: Louisiana, purchased of France, $15,000,000; interest paid, $8,385,353. Florida, purchased of Spain, $5,000,000; interest paid, $1,430,000. Texas, boundary, $10,000,000; Texas, for indemnity, $10,000,000; Texas, for creditors, last Congress, $7,750,000; Indian expenses of all kinds, $5,000,000; to purchase navy, pay troops, $5,000,000; all other expenditures, $3,000,000; Mexican war, $217,175,565; soldiers' pensions and bounty lands, $100,000,000; Florida war, $100,000,000; soldiers' pensions, $7,000,000; to remove Indians, $15,000,000; paid by treaty for New Mexico, $15,000,000; paid to extinguish Indian titles, $100,000,000; paid to Georgia, $3,082,000. Total cost, $617,822,828."

INFANT, DAY AND INDUSTRIAL [SCHOOL,

Sutter, near Stockton street; in the building formerly used as a City School, and originally as a church.

The Day School.

The undersigned has opened a regular Day School, under his own management and that of a well known public school lady-teacher, and such assistance as the wants of the school may call for.

This school, in operation since the 1st of June, is an extension of the Heptah School (established July 1854), and is managed exactly like the public schools; with the difference that it aims at developing the moral faculties simultaneously with the intellectual powers: its efforts will be—as have been those of the Heptah School these seven years—to afford the children an education besides instruction: to supply a want very much felt in our system of education. We have too many "clever girls" and "smart boys;" we should like to see obedient children, and good men.

SEWING CROTCHETING, EMBROIDERY AND MUSIC.

These accomplishments, so necessary for the future housekeeper, are taught at the school as necessary branches of a common school education.

GERMAN AND FRENCH.—Pupils, already advanced in the elementary branches, will be taught French and German, if desired.

A number of German parents, who their children early to learn to speak German. To satisfy this demand, provisions are made for the German to be read as a medium of instruction for those children, whose parents desire it.

MUSIC.—This ornamental branch, frequently so injudiciously taught, without regard to health; to talent, and to the probability of the student's being able to bring it to any perfection and of practicing it when acquired—will also be taught as soon as there will be any appreciable demand for it.

The Infant School.

A School, after the model of the Prussian Verwahrungsanstalten, under the management of ladies, whose gentleness, suavity of manners and deportment—the first requisites in the early training of youth—cannot fail to exert a healthy influence over the whole after life of the Pupils, is still a desideratum in this city.

The Harmonia School is making every effort to supply this want, and rejoices already in such a promising patronage, that the cooperation of a second lady was secured since the short time of its existence; so that ample justice can be done to the school.

Parents have the choice to have their children addressed in German or English.

The confinement of children at too early an age, and their premature intellectual development is highly deprecable. Yet, many parents find it, as we see, acceptable to see their children guarded from street influences and (home) accidents, by placing them under the guardianship of ladies, who by a motherly treatment, will very early and especially cultivate in them the affectional and moral faculties; who will entertain them agreeably—partly by instruction, by stories, by play things and otherwise; and that, in a locality so large and lofty, that while it keeps the young from the dangers and influences of the street, cannot be considered confinement.

The Harmonia (upper) School room measures 32 by 50, is 18 feet high, with a play ground of 10 by 70 feet for the girls, and another of the same dimensions for the boys; situated in one of the most healthy localities, with an appropriate internal arrangement and management, affording to pupils those rare accommodations.

Such a school ought to meet with that support which, similar establishments have met in Prussia and northern Germany; in which country these institutions, on account of their usefulness, are the special care and provision of Government.

The devotion of the undersigned to the cause of education is fully known, by his labors in this city since full seven years. He is determined to make the Harmonia School his special care; so that, while it is principally under the management of ladies—a great advantage for the young—he will, by his special care and superintendence, try to introduce into it that harmony and unity of action which is so necessary for the maintenance of a sound and healthy discipline.

Special care will be taken to see the children safely to and from school. Children living on the other side of the railroad will be sent for; particularly those who have to cross the Market street railroad-track.

Charges are those usual in other private schools in this city.

Apply at the School House daily from 9 A. M.; or at the "GLEANER" Office daily, from 12 to 2 P. M. Entrance; or, 517 Clay st.

NEEDLEWORK, EMBROIDERY, MUSIC, FRENCH AND GERMAN

Independent classes in the branches of this caption are in the process of forming for such pupils, who visit the different city schools.

THE HARMONIA SCHOOLS.
TO PARENTS IN THE CITY AND COUNTRY.
The Harmonia Day School as well as the Infant School, continue to increase steadily, and begin to enjoy more than an ordinary patronage. They are under the management of two competent and well-known ladies. We hope, if the patronage continues thus, to be able to afford the children opportunities worthy of the attention of parents and guardians. At the day school, boys are taught the Hebrew and German (if desired), in addition to usual branches; and the girls, sewing and embroidery. We are prepared to add French and music, as soon as there will be any demand for these branches, for the senior classes.
The Infant School takes charge of children of a very tender age, and occupies them in a peculiarly improving manner. Pupils of a more advanced age learn the letters and spelling.
Hebrew children will early be taught the stereotyped Hebrew liturgic sentences, and Hebrew melodies. This exercise is of high importance to the child, and will be duly appreciated by the intelligent parent.
The object of the schools will be seen from the circular in another column of the GLEANER.
We send daily a boy, in our employ, for children living beyond Market street, and other distant parts of the city.

PULMONARY COMPLAINTS.
Statistics prove that one quarter of all the deaths in the United States, proceeds in some manner from Diseases of the Lungs. It is highly to be considered that masses of corruption, suffering and death. As consumption is a neglected cold or cough, which is not cured, it leads to fruit, so do a neglected cold or cough, which is not consumption. It is a hard thing to conquer in its stages—it should be vigorously attacked at first. Many articles of different virtues may alleviate, but

PARK'S BALSAM OF CHERRY AND TAR cures, when any earthly power can.

"INDEPENDENCE, Texas, May 10th, 1861.
"GENTLEMEN: I feel it my duty to speak in regard to your Medicine. In 1856 I was attacked with a cold which rapidly running into Consumption. I tried every remedy, and all the physicians I could hear of, without relief, until I hit your Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar. I was immediately benefited. It has saved my life.
"Gentlemen, your
"JOHN Q. SMITH."

"RICHMOND, Texas, May 7, 1861.
"MESSRS. BARNES & PARK: I am having constant use for Park's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar. There is nothing else, in the highest praise of the doctor, so kind enough to forward me one more.
Yours, truly,

"ATWAS, Texas, April 30, 1861.
"GENTLEMEN: I am a practicing physician at Atwas, about 25 miles from San Antonio. I prescribe Park's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, and all the pulmonary diseases, with the greatest benefit. I have witnessed several remarkable cures. "W. DAVIS, M.D."
Such results are constantly being exhibited in every Consumption Cured in its Last Stage.

Consumptive patient, be of good cheer. We bring you joyful tidings of good news. Read!

"HARDONVILLE, N. J. April 10th, 1861.
"I was attacked by a severe pain in the side, the region of the Liver. I suffered intensely through the whole winter. During all the time I was coughing and spitting blood, and a violent cough, raised much blood and was supposed by myself and others to be in the stages of consumption. The February following, I bought Park's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Tar. As soon as I commenced its use, I began to grow better. The cough gradually subsided, the spitting of blood ceased, and my general health improved. I was enabled to resume my trade, that of a lawyer, which I have continued without interruption. I further remark that this remarkable cure was effected by only three bottles of the Balsam.
Truly yours,
THOMAS CORTNEY."

This article so harmonizes with the vital action of

as it shortens existence and hurries the patient down into eternity.

Thousands are weekly dying whose lives might be saved by the timely use of DR. PARK'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND TAR. A few weeks—a few days—a fatal difference in the progress of CONSUMPTIVE SYMPTOMS.

The chances of success increase greatly with the timeliness of treatment. Although Park's Balsam has formed cures in cases seemingly desperate, and in the most miraculous, still it is advisable to take the Balsam on the appearance of the first symptoms.

Sold by Druggists everywhere.
